Summary

Greetings! I am an AI Engineer with a strong foundation in finance, programming, and data science. Combining my expertise in finance with advanced Python development and testing skills, I create impactful AI and automation solutions.

With a passion for writing and technology, I bring over fourteen years of professional experience, including roles as an ex-banker and ex-consultant. My unique perspective integrates financial acumen with cutting-edge AI techniques, enhancing the value of my work.

As an author of three published books, I excel in communicating complex concepts clearly and engagingly. My focus has now shifted to Python automation, data science, and artificial intelligence, where I leverage my extensive background to develop innovative solutions.

I also have over five years of freelance writing experience, producing a diverse range of content, including blogs, reports, and website material. While my expertise spans various finance topics, I now concentrate on AI and data-driven solutions, except for crypto-assets.

If you have any inquiries or opportunities to collaborate, please feel free to reach out to me at kanchan.g12@gmail.com or call me directly at +91-9874703013.
